

QVERITOR QVOTIDIANVS

Spring MMXIX

epistola editoris

Salvete Amici,

I very much hope the end of everyone's semester is going well! The year has flown past and after finals, I hope we all will be able to relax and unwind (at least a little bit) over the summer.

This edition of the Queritor Quotidianus will be abbreviated, compared to those which have been published in the past, and that is mea culpa, with no excuse, and I believe the proper punishment for the offense is that I be tossed off the nearest cliff Miss Trunchbull style, with nothing more than reckless abandon. I am taking offers at my private number. What have I become? A purveyor of a glorified vessel for memes? This is but my own, sinful doing.

If, much like myself, the end of the year has gotten you to the point where your family no longer recognizes your feral form and rabid eyes, it's always good to take a moment to remember your purpose, your passions, and those people, places and things which you love. The sun is shining, the birds are chirping, and the world is green and goes on, something we can all appreciate and find solace in. Bucolic rambling aside, it's been an action-packed year, we've all made some incredible friends, and I hope we can all look forward to what comes next.

With summer fast approaching, graduation for some, I wish godspeed to those for whom life is opening a new door and, if you're a corpse being carried, remember to go feet-first!

Curate ut Valeatis,

Cully Wilkins
VSCL Editor
Randolph-Macon College

First, an announcement from our most lovely VP, Stefania Dodd:

Hello All!

I'm sorry about the delay in programming, but I'm happy to announce a few events in the coming months. Of course, none are mandatory, but we'd love to see you there!

May 25th - VMFA
Richmond, VA

Please join us at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts! This museum offers a range of pieces from the Classical period to modernity, not to mention that they boast the largest public collection of Faberge Eggs outside of Russia. Depending on interest we may be able to secure a tour of some of the exhibits. Besides there being a cafe in the museum there is also a wealth of delicious restaurants in Richmond for after our visit.

June 22nd - Smithsonian Museums
Washington, DC

We love museums, and what better place to visit than the (free) Smithsonians! You'll have the option to examine art, space, natural history, and more. Further details will be available as the event approaches.

July 27th - Bowling
Location TBD

Who doesn't love bowling? What about togas? How about Toga Bowling? I'd like to get a better sense of where people will be spending their summers and then we can establish a location, so please let me know your interest.

Please RSVP your interest in any of the events and feel free to address any questions, comments, or concerns to Stefania Dodd at either:

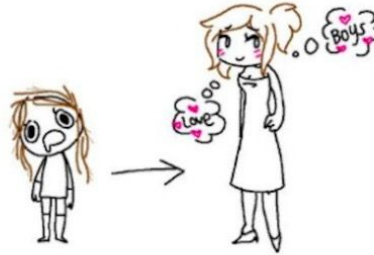

(571) 831-1363

vicepres.vscl@gmail.com

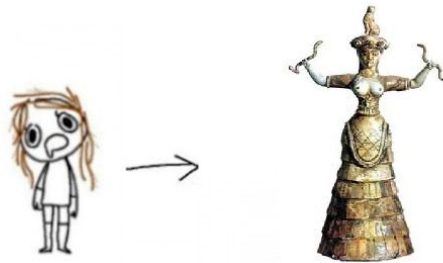

Now for some general tomfoolery, as is our lot.

What puberty did to my friends.

What puberty did to me.

← Tweet

 Hannibal Barca
@HaniBaller

Just finished Carthage in Minecraft

8:13 PM · Jan 26, 2019 · Twitter for iPhone

||| View Tweet activity

🗨️ ↻️ ❤️ 📤

More replies

 Scipio Africanus @ScipioOfAfrica · 1m
Replying to @HaniBaller
Shit man what's the login

🗨️ ↻️ ❤️ 📤

Me: yo pass the tribune veto

Friend: u better not force the senate to accept your public land reforms, leading to your death and changing the dynamic of violence in the senate for the duration of the republic

Me:

