VSCL Convention 2023

Welcome back to another issue of the VSCL's legendary QQ! I hope you all had as much fun as I did at convention last weekend! From Putamen to testing (woohoo) to toilet paper togas to That's Entertainment, we really did it all and did it adequately enough to be invited back next year :) (just kidding, y'all did great). Every convention reminds me more and more why I love the JCL/SCL community so much and why each of us takes a weekend to travel to Richmond to help a bunch of middle and high schoolers learn Latin. The only bad part of convention was that it was my last couple days as Editor :(I know I speak for both Aryn and myself when I say that it has been such an amazing time being your Editor and putting together these publications. Keep reading to get a convention recap, laugh at convention memes, and be embarrassed by your post-convention superlative! I love you all and hope to see you soon!

Cum amore, Emma Schmidt

In case you missed it... highlights from convention

That's Entertainment lineup:

1. Zeus creating the VJCL Convention schedule (did he even think anything through?)
2. Am I the tyrant?
3. The Odyssey told through Taylor Swift songs and Eras
4. 'Twas the night mid-convention when the fire alarm blared
5. Top 5 ways to propose during convention (+ an extra special proposal...)

An AMAZING slasher turnout at the VSCL social with 29 slashers attending and four spectacular togas created!!
